Thousand Men Battle River On Georgia Levees; Water Falling

RIVER REACHES 45-FOOT STAGE; TROOPS ASSIST

Dwellers In Lowlands Flee From Homes During Night

OBSERVER HOLDS DANGER PASSING

Towns Isolated By High Waters; Trucks Are Aiding Workers

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 3.—By the uncertain light of railroad torches, 1,500 men worked all through the night and early morning hours today to hold the levee in place and save Augusta from the yellow waters of the Savannah River. The river stood at approximately 45 feet early today, with engineers predicting that it would start receding at any time.

The hundreds of volunteer workers labored feverishly and yet with the precision of a trained force. Some 500 soldiers of the regular army, passing through on their way to an encampment, were held here to help patrol the city so protection work could go forward without interference.

River to Lower
Eugene D. Emigh, weather forecaster, said the river had reached its crest and would begin falling during the day. The torrential rains up in the mountainous watershed of the Savannah had ceased and clear weather prevailed.

Augusta passed its second night of anxiety. Tuesday night brought a couple of minor breaks in the levee and threw the city into a panic. People rushed out of the low lying sections of town and moved to higher ground.

Again last night crowds hurried to the streets of business district when a score of trucks rushed to the foot of Eighth st. This however, proved to be no break, but merely a precautionary measure against a spot known to be weak.

Floods Are Menace
Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 3.—Staggering from under the wreckage of the West Indian hurricane which two days ago swept out of the Gulf of Mexico, sections of four southern states today were menaced by floods.

Rapidly rising rivers were reported in southern Georgia, northwestern Florida and the Carolinas as deluges of rain, accompanying hurricane winds, swept toward the Atlantic.

Augusta, Waycross and Darien, Georgia, are among the dozen towns in Georgia isolated. The Savannah river separating Georgia and South Carolina was on a rampage, threatening to exact enormous property damage as it reaches Savannah and the coast.

In northwestern Florida, the Apalachicola basin has drained turbid waters into the Apalachicola river and towns dotting the banks toward the mouth of the stream were menaced.

Six lives have been claimed by flood waters at Augusta during the week.

VETS TO CHOOSE NEW COMMANDER

Boston Selected As Site For 1930 National Convention

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 3.—O. L. Bodenhamer, of Arkansas today was elected national commander of the American Legion at its convention here.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 3.—The eleventh annual convention of the American Legion was preparing to draw to a close today after four days of feverish activity, both official and otherwise.

Only one outstanding bit of business remains to be transacted by the Legionnaires. This is the selection of a new national commander to succeed Paul V. McNutt, Indiana college professor, who has headed the veterans' organization since last year.

Yesterday was given over to lengthy convention sessions in which innumerable reports were heard and the city of Boston, selected as the convention city for 1930.

At a late hour last night the choice of the commanderyship appeared to lie between O. L. Bodenhamer of Eldorado, Ark., Albert L. Cox, of Raleigh, N. C., and Ralph T. O'Neill of Topeka, Kas., with Bodenhamer the outstanding favorite.

The new commander probably will be selected immediately after the opening of today's session of the get-together.

There was a noticeable let-down in the funmaking of the Legionnaires yesterday after two days in which Louisville and everything in it was at the mercy of the visiting delegates.

Many of the veterans left for their homes yesterday in order to avoid the last minute rush for railroad reservations, while others remained secluded in their hotels in an effort to gain a bit of much-needed rest before starting for their respective stations.

Special Session Of Grand Jury Possible

Northern Columbiana county has been the center of a series of robberies, holdups and illegal check-passing activities for the few past weeks with the result that Prosecutor John E. Bauckicht will be forced to call a special session of the grand jury next month.

Five persons, arrested here, await arraignment before the next grand jury, while three prisoners were taken to Lisbon from Columbiana, yesterday on charges of automobile stealing charges.

Since the close of the September jury session a number of prisoners have been arrested and committed to the county jail from lower courts on felony charges. About 15 such cases are now awaiting the filing of transcripts with Clerk of Courts John A. Noble.

Two transcripts are to be filed charging men with violation of the liquor code, while the majority of other cases will include preference of charges against prisoners awaiting arraignment for robberies, automobile thefts, issuance of fraudulent checks and accepting and concealing stolen property. All lower courts in the county will be informed within the next 10 days to immediately file all criminal transcripts in order to rush plans for the special session.

Sheriff W. J. Barlow declared today that the county jail is filled to capacity and that several prisoners are being quartered in the jail corridors.

Spirit Message Puzzles Medium; Discloses Secret

Cleveland, Oct. 3.—A flaw in kinship was uncovered here through spiritual seance and as a result one man is in a very be-puzzled state of mind today and Rev. Arthur Ford, the New York Spiritualist preacher who conducted the meeting, is himself trying to figure out what he admits is "the strangest experience in all spiritualist phenomena" he has witnessed.

Rev. Ford, while transmitting "spirit messages" to 53 members of his audience in a fashionable downtown hotel here last night sent a presumptive message to a man in the audience.

"Your father is inquiring for you," Rev. Ford said.

After the meeting the man approached Rev. Ford and stated that the "spirit" was not his father.

"This is my father," the man said, introducing an older man.

When Rev. Ford insisted that the "spirit message" was from the man's father, the older man turned to his companion and admitted:

"You are not my son. You are my adopted son."

SEPTEMBER RAIN AIDS WHEAT IN COLUMBIANA CO.

First Killing Frost Was On September 19th; Damaged Corn

PRECIPITATION WAS ABOVE NORMAL

4.23 Inches Recorded In Month; Early Hot Spell

With sufficient rain falling in Columbiana county the latter part of September, early sown wheat made a good growth, according to a report just issued by U. S. Co-operative weather observer Lawrence H. Copeland of Millport.

The first 10 days in September were the warmest during the summer period. The drought-ended Sept. 10, and the first killing frost was noted Sept. 19.

Heavy damage resulted to corn which was not matured, owing to late planting and drought in August and September. All pastures are short, and live stock is being fed. Mean maximum temperature for September was 75.1 and the mean temperature 47.2 with mean temperature at 62.1. The maximum temperature of 89 degrees was registered September 3, 4 and 5, and the minimum of 29 was noted Sept. 19. The greatest daily range or 40 degrees was recorded Sept. 16.

Rainfall during September was 4.23 inches, and the heaviest being 1.06 inches Sept. 9. There were 12 days last month when the precipitation was .01 inch or more. There were but nine clear days, 14 partly cloudy and seven cloudy days last month. The normal temperature for September during the last 37 years is placed at 63 degrees and the normal rainfall for the same period during the same month was 2.90 inches. The rainfall last month, however, was above the average.

DEATH CLAIMS GREAT GERMAN

Dr. Gustav Stresemann Dies Suddenly In Capital City

Berlin, Oct. 3.—One of the greatest figures on the international political post-war horizon was removed today in the sudden death of Dr. Gustav Stresemann, foreign minister of Germany, from a stroke of apoplexy.

Dr. Stresemann died at 5:25 a. m. this morning. He had been stricken at midnight, and failed to regain consciousness.

The sudden and entirely unexpected death of the foreign minister threw a pall of gloom over Germany, for although during his entire tenure of office Dr. Stresemann fought against violent opposition from all political quarters, he was nevertheless a popular figure and had carried the banner of reconstruction through the trying post-war days in Germany.

Although he had been suffering for some time from a kidney ailment, complicated by thrombosis, Dr. Stresemann died peacefully in his home. A few hours before his death he had attended a party caucus, and spent the late hours of yesterday afternoon in political conferences at his home.

The excitement of the last few days, during which Dr. Stresemann fought heroically against violent opposition to avoid a cabinet crisis, is held directly responsible for his death. The possible crisis centered about passage of a reform bill for unemployment relief. For hours late yesterday Dr. Stresemann urged his supporters, members of the German peoples' party, not to vote against the measure. All his great oratorical powers were expended in an effort to keep peace within his own ranks and prevent collapse of his ministry, but he gave no indication that he had exhausted himself to such an extent that his life was at stake.

Religious New Year To Be Observed By Jews Friday

Year of 5690, According to Jewish Tradition Which Bases Time From Creation; Marked Opening Of Economic Year In Past

Friday night, Oct. 4, at sundown ushers in Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish Religious New Year. Reform Jews observe one day for the festival; Orthodox Jews observe two days, reminiscent of the far past before the calendar was mathematically determined. This year is 5690, computed by Jewish tradition on as the tradition of the holy number seven, comes the seven day week, the seven branched candlestick, the seven days of Passover and of Tabernacles. Accordingly, Jewish tradition marked the month of Tishri with New Year on the first day, Atonement on the tenth day and Tabernacles on the 15th to the 22nd days of the month.

In ancient days, when the Jewish people lived in Palestine and agriculture was its chief occupation, the Hebrew New Year's day marked the opening of the economic year. It occurred in the beginning of autumn, because the season of the sowing of seeds began with the fall. This system of the agricultural cycle of the year was used by all Semitic peoples. The Bible, however, does not refer to this festival as the New Year's day, but the Jewish people, no doubt considered it as such at a very early date. In the days of the Temple, they observed this day by abstaining from all labor, by bringing special offerings to the Temple of Jerusalem, and by blowing the Shofar, the ram's horn.

With the exile of the Jewish people from Palestine, the agricultural and economic background disappeared. The excitement of the last few days, during which Dr. Stresemann fought heroically against violent opposition to avoid a cabinet crisis, is held directly responsible for his death. The possible crisis centered about passage of a reform bill for unemployment relief. For hours late yesterday Dr. Stresemann urged his supporters, members of the German peoples' party, not to vote against the measure. All his great oratorical powers were expended in an effort to keep peace within his own ranks and prevent collapse of his ministry, but he gave no indication that he had exhausted himself to such an extent that his life was at stake.

$250 TAKEN BY CRACKSMEN IN ROBBERY HERE

Citizens Ice Company Plant Scene Of Work

ROBBERS FAILED IN OTHER CRIME

Police Believe Gang At Work In Northeast Ohio Counties

Bandits and safe-robbers, believed by police to be operating in groups throughout the northeastern Ohio district for the past six weeks, centered activities on this city and took approximately $250 in cash, after they looted two offices here, broke into two safes, then made an attempt on a third, early today.

About $210 in cash and $40 in negotiable checks were stolen from the office of the Citizens Ice and Coal company, 85 Mill St., when the safe of the company was entered at an early hour this morning. One safe in the Salona Supply company, West Pershing Ave, was broken into and efforts made to break into a second. No loot was obtained.

Both robberies are believed by authorities here to have been committed by safe-crackers who have been working in Canton, Alliance, Warren, Youngstown and other nearby cities.

Break Office Window.
Entrance was made into the Citizens Ice and Coal company office by breaking a rear window of a room leading to the room containing the safe. The combination knob of the safe was broken off, apparently after hours of patient work by the robbers. Approximately $1400 in negotiable securities was overlooked.

Drawers in desks of the office were also looted but nothing of value taken from them. W. W. Tolerton of the company reported.

"A rear window of the office of the Salona Supply company was broken and an iron bar removed before entrance was made. The robbers were unable to break open a safe in the feed department of the company. They then entered the implement department by breaking in through another window, where they managed to open the safe by same tactics as were used at the Citizens company.

The raid on the Salona Supply company's safes netted the intruders nothing, according to the company's general manager, E. E. Bower.

No substantial clues were obtained by police in either case. A chisel, large hammer and an axe were found at the Salona offices, giving police basis for the theory that the robbery of the coal and ice company, while in the latter place, a plain imprint of a rubber heel, and a light fingerprint were found.

The hammer, chisel and axe are believed by police to be the tools used by the bandits. Both cases indicated that the work was done by men experienced in safe-cracking, outsiders who apparently were given assistance by persons acquainted with both offices.

The safe robberies were the fourth of a series of major crimes perpetrated here in the past two weeks. The two holdups committed here by two youthful bandits, in which loot estimated by victims at $300 was taken, are believed to have been accomplished by members of the same gang.

With the arrest of Charles Grimm and William Minner now in Columbiana county jail at Lisbon, police are definitely certain that it is a different group that accomplished the holdups and committed today's robberies. The crimes of the past two weeks are the first of major seriousness committed in Salem since the murder of John Goldner, which occurred almost one year ago.

HECKERT FINED IN LIQUOR CASE

Resident of Hell's Half Acre Given Heavy Penalty; Attorneys To Appeal Decision

Lisbon, Oct. 3.—Jake Heckert, Hell's Half Acre, was fined $1,200 and costs on a charge of violating liquor laws, before Probate Judge Lodge Riddle here today.

Heckert's attorneys stated they will appeal the case directly to the court of appeals, which holds its next session Nov. 11.

Following the disposition of this case, Heckert was brought into the court of Justice M. K. Zimmerman, charged by R. E. Damon, Beaver county, Pa., with being a fugitive from the Lisbon justice's court. He posted $500 bond for trial before Zimmerman, Oct. 18.

Grimm and Minner admitted both crimes, when arraigned before Hiddleston Tuesday morning.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Fire Prevention week will be observed Oct. 6 to 12 throughout the nation. Fire Chief Vincent Malloy, in nominal charge of observance in Salem, has called attention to the large loss of life and property as the result of fires and has pointed out some of the underlying causes for this loss year after year.

Statistics indicate that 80 per cent of all fires are caused by carelessness. As in the case of guarding children from accidents, fire caution is not a matter for a week's observance, but must be part of the daily routine and a matter for constant vigilance.

A large contributing cause, under the general heading of carelessness, is accumulation of rubbish. Careless smokers, spontaneous combustion, carelessness with matches, furnaces, hot heating pipes may provide the flame of heat necessary to start a blaze in a collection of waste and disastrous fires frequently result. Elimination of this cause is a matter of common every-day cleanliness.

Other things mentioned in Chief Malloy's report are incompetent wiring, use of inflammable materials for washing, hunting in closets and attics with matches and candles instead of flashlight and indiscriminate distribution of matches where they may be obtained by children.

Stated briefly, the greatest cause for fires is lack of exercise of that quality known as common sense. Fires differ from traffic accidents in that the factors which cause them may be controlled. Cleanliness, exercise of common sense, legislation preventing semi-criminal practices—all these things can decrease the annual fire waste in the nation and keep Salem's fire loss at a figure where it will compare favorably with the lowest in the United States.

GALILEO'S DISCOVERY

Science has an interest for the human mind by reason of its sheer mystery. It is a voyage of discovery. It is an investigation conducted for the purpose of unveiling hidden secrets. Through science, nature stands revealed in new aspects hitherto unknown, and often unsuspected. We stand aghast at these strange, new truths which so long have remained hidden from the scrutiny of mankind. Science fascinates by its mystery.

Science has a deeper fascination than the mere appeal of the recondite and the unknown. It represents a conquest and a discovery. Science gives us a soul-stirring thrill because of its conquest of recalcitrant matter and unfathomed substance. Our nerves are set a-tingle with the excitement of discovery. We are not satisfied with the mere announcement that a mystery has been solved, a secret disclosed. We want to know how it was done. We want to share the excitement of the investigator, set our minds alongside his, and accompany him to the end of the great adventure.

Such a fascinating undertaking may be realized by reading Fabian's "Galileo His Life and Work."

Already Copernicus has shown that the earth revolves upon its axis and moves in a certain orbit. The acceptance of the new doctrines involved the gravest jeopardy. Ten years before Galileo's classic study of Jupiter, Giordano Bruno, disciple and public expositor of Copernicus, had been burned at the stake in Rome, January 7, 1600, as a classic date in the history of science, for it marked the beginning of Galileo's prolonged and successful study of Jupiter.

Although Galileo was literally taking his life in his hands, he proceeded to examine, night after night, Jupiter and its three accompanying stars, strung out in a straight line. All three appeared east of Jupiter one night, west of Jupiter the next night. The night of January 10, only two of these stars were visible. Perhaps the third was concealed by the planet's disk?

It flashed upon Galileo that these various groupings of the three stars could not be explained by Jupiter's own motion. These companions must be smaller stars circulating about Jupiter! If his brilliant surmise was correct, Jupiter was like the sun of Copernicus, the center of a miniature solar system of its own.

Observation alone could determine the truth of Galileo's acute surmise. His manuscript notes, still preserved, show that for 66 nights Galileo industriously studied Jupiter through his telescope. On the seventh night he had discovered that there were actually four companion stars, instead of three. Galileo summed up his findings in the following words:

"It is not a simple case of one body—the moon—revolving around another body—the earth—while the two together make a revolution around the sun, as the Copernican doctrine teaches; but we have the case of four bodies or moons revolving around the planet, Jupiter, as the moon does around the earth, while they all with Jupiter perform a grand revolution around the sun in a dozen years."

This discovery, followed by Galileo's additional discovery of the changing phases of Venus, went far towards bringing about the acceptance of the theory of Copernicus. The contribution of Galileo, as Hale puts it, was literally a revolution in human thought.

What Others Say

ALL NOT SPECULATING

When Secretary Mellon offered to the public recently $500,000,000 in treasury certificates, the issue was oversubscribed in a few hours on the ratio of approximately three to one. He could have sold $1,483,000,000 worth of these certificates had it been necessary, as that was the amount of the bids by eager buyers. As it is, here is a billion dollars waiting investment which apparently is not interested in the stock market.

Call loans in the street yield from two to three times the interest the government is prepared to pay for money but Uncle Sam had no difficulty getting all the credit he needed in this one transaction. It shows that with all the money that has been sent to New York for speculation and to assist the speculator for a consideration, there are millions of remaining uninvested capital to which the lower interest and greater safety of government securities are most attractive.

So long as there are tremendous sums in this country seeking profitable outlets in fields not connected with speculation there need be no surprise over the increase in broker and call loans. It also follows that stock market investments and speculations are not draining the country of its liquid capital. Money is being made on a great scale by many corporations and individuals and they have plenty to send out when the borrower does not intend to speculate with it. The encouragement to the government from this is obvious. It will no longer have to offer exceptionally high rates on its securities in order to find buyers for them. Probably the same will be true to less degree with other political subdivisions. It would seem that there is plenty of money for all useful purposes still to be had at fair rates by big borrowers. If street speculators ever decide that call money is too high, the flood of capital awaiting investment may eventually bring about the cheapest rates the country has enjoyed in years. This would be a blessing for it would encourage constructive enterprise to go ahead on a scale commensurate with the growth and value of the United States.—Dayton Herald.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

How many are there who think of social work as charity pure and simple? I fear many fail to realize the progress of the times. We overlook too many things that have to do with improving the welfare of the public.

DR. COPELAND
The Charity organization of New York and the Welfare Council of New York city have co-operated together recently in issuing a directory of social agencies in the city. These have to do with better housing conditions, help for the homeless, homes for the aged, legal aid and help for the immigrant, foreign born and the traveler. In addition, there are protective and correctional agencies.

In New York city alone there are 1,100 social agencies. There are more than 300 organizations engaged in family welfare work. There are six organizations for promoting better housing conditions; 23 help the homeless; 92 homes for the aged; 11 legal-aid services; 50 agencies to assist immigrants, foreign born and travelers; 70 protective and correctional agencies for adults. In many of the 470 agencies engaged in some form of child welfare they also carry on health work, family welfare or recreational, as well as educational activities and neighborhood work.

There are 263 hospitals and 410 clinics dealing with health problems of the city, besides 112 infant health stations. Also there are 27 nursing services, 67 institutions for convalescents, 146 services for mental hygiene and 36 health administration and educational organizations. It is interesting to note that, with New York city, "the social work capitol of the world," there are 283 headquarters for national and international welfare agencies in the city. This great work represents an achievement which is significant of the broad and humane interest of public spirited citizens in the public welfare.

The statistics of the work of these organizations show how much the improvement of the public health is due to their efforts. Without doubt there would be greater demands made upon the doctor and hospitals were it not for these worthy organizations. Let us do all we can to encourage this fine spirit.

It is to be hoped that other cities of the country enjoy these immeasurable benefits. I assume they do.

A number of Salem's soft drink saloons were raided Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Curtis, Ellsworth ave., on Monday celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary.

Dr. Della Walker drove to Warren Sunday in her auto.

Some unusually fine corn is on exhibit at the Stark Electric station.

It was brought here from New Jersey by S. P. Goldy.

J. S. Barnes is working in the Harmon barber shop during the absence of William Harmon, who is attending the barber's convention at Milwaukee this week.

The wholesale price of Massillon coal probably will be raised 25 cents a ton, because operators are unable to ship it as the result of a car famine on the railroads.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Queer left Sunday for Seattle, Wash. where they will attend the exposition.

Mrs. H. A. Gross, who has been in a Cleveland hospital for some time, was brought to her home here Sunday.

That former Salemites scattered along the Pacific coast are interested in Salem's Homecoming Harvest festival, is indicated by a letter received from M. S. Hawkins, who is located at Los Angeles, Calif.

The Stars Say —

For Friday, October 4

While there are some sidereal hints of danger and precipitant situations on this day, yet there are so many signs that are considered auspicious, that with calm and well-managed enterprise there should be success and satisfaction. Speculation is under this hazardous ray, but diligence and patience spell gain and progress. Some advantages may also be responsive to diplomatic or strategic manipulation rather than aggressive and turbulent measures. Personal matters thrive.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of progress and profit, but rather through diligence and perseverance than through rash or tumultuous or aggressive action or bold projects. Tact and quiet agreement may win where violence or strenuous attack would defeat. The domestic, social and affectional affairs may please. A child born this day may be clever, and hard working and should succeed through its patience and perseverance rather than through aggressive measures, although tact and strategem may bring it some gain.

Danger is next neighbor to security.—Proverb.

FIRE THREATENS CLEVELAND AREA

Stubborn Blaze Causes Trouble; Two Are Injured

Cleveland, Oct. 3.—Investigation was started here today in an effort to determine the origin of a fire which reduced the lumber yard of the Cuyahoga Material Co. to ashes late last night, causing $200,000 damages and injuries to three firemen.

Fanned by a strong wind, the blaze literally ate up the lumber yard which covered two city blocks located in the heart of Cleveland's most thickly populated district. Its flames, wildly whipped by the winds, licked hungrily at scores of residences within several blocks around, forcing their occupants to flee. The glare of the flames attracted thousands of spectators from all parts of the city.

The fire raged for more than two hours before firemen from fifteen companies, who responded to five alarms, could bring them under control. The blaze was accelerated by the explosion of two gasoline tanks in the supply yards.

Firemen James Angel and Louis Hillenbrand were injured when they were struck by falling bricks as a wall of a warehouse building collapsed. Fireman Blanchard Smith received gashes from flying glass.

Fire chief George A. Wallace, Cleveland's 81-year-old firefighter, declared the fire was the worst here in years. He said it was comparable to the historic "flat fires" of other years when acres of lumber were destroyed by fires which sometimes lasted 24 hours.

OUR READERS

QUESTIONS

Editor News: The people of Salem were told that city and state engineers have pronounced our disposal plant to be one of the best in the state.

Why were we not told until now that the city engineer must be informed as to the kind of sewage that is to be dumped into it?

How much alcoholic liquor does it take to disarrange the plant and give it "acute alcoholism"?

Did the Salem plant receive more Thursday and Friday than any plant in the state has done?

If the quantity was so great what have our city officials, who receive their salaries from the taxpayers of Salem, that the laws may be enforced, been doing to allow such a quantity to accumulate?

Did they forget they were to enforce the laws?

How could all the alcoholic liquors dumped into the sewer, from different parts of town Thursday and Friday "come into the sewer at one time and into one clarifying tank?" It's a complex situation.

Could it have been collected as bootleg whiskey?

Would it have been better to have had all that poison poured down the throats of the crowd that assembled in Salem on Community day than to have had the plant disarranged?

So glad it is back to normal again after such an expense and so much hard work!

Surely our state officials will suffer if it happens again?

Would it not have been better to severely censure our city officials for not doing their duty than to censure the state and county officials for doing their duty?

A Citizen of Salem.

Berengaria Brings MacDonald Close To Shores of America

Aboard S. S. Berengaria, by Radio to I. N. S., Oct. 3.—Proceeding at lessened speed in order not to arrive too early, the Berengaria, bearing Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald on his mission of peace and good-will continued its uneventful voyage today.

The great ship's speed was slowed down when it became apparent that the ship was going to bring Premier MacDonald into New York ahead of time.

A flood of radio grams pouring into the premier's suite during the last two days have cut down his sleep to an average of five hours nightly. He spends most of the day working in his room.

Presiding at the ship's concern, the premier last night spoke briefly concerning his mission at Washington.

"I am sure you all know the nature of my voyage," he declared. "It would not be diplomatic for me to say much about the hopes I am taking with me, but you know what is in my heart."

"Should the mission be successful, as President Hoover and I hope it will be, I shall be able to return in several weeks a happy and contented man."

Here's Why ...

You Should Heat
Your Home With Gas

Automatic Gas heat is the last word for comfort and convenience in the home. The heating plant needs attention only twice a year—in the fall when you light the pilot, and in spring when you turn it off.

Thermostatic control, an upstairs indicator, keeps the home at a uniform temperature no matter how cold the weather.

Another advantage ... The cleanliness of the basement and absence of the fuel bin, ashes, dust and grime, make it possible to utilize the basement for other purposes ... a playroom for the kiddies, or a recreation room for all to enjoy.

Free surveys and estimates gladly furnished on a new heating plant or equipment to modernize your present furnace. Deferred payments can be arranged to suit your income.

McCULLOCH'S

Bring in your old shades
Each is worth
25c

Towards Purchase of New

Brenlin Shades

This month, we're making a most unusual offer — one that means great savings to you.

We'll give you 25 cents for each old window shade on your purchase of new shades of Brenlin. Now — don't throw old shades away — bring them in, or send the coupon to us.

THE SECRET OF LONG WEAR IN WINDOW SHADES

In ordinary window shades, consisting of a base of loosely woven muslin, the large spaces between the threads must be "filled in" with chalk or clay to give the shade weight and smoothness.

This "filling" soon becomes hard and brittle, works itself loose and falls out. The result is a shade wrinkled and full of unsightly cracks and pinholes.

Brenlin Shades aren't made that way. The base of Brenlin Shades is a tightly woven material, heavy enough in itself so that it doesn't have to be "weighted." Even when it is stretched to its limit, this material has no wide spaces that must be filled.

That's why Brenlin Shades, instead of being brittle, are soft and supple always.

Don't miss this chance to get these wonder shades. Just send the coupon to us now. We'll send a man to collect your old shades and to measure for your new ones.

But please act at once — this offer soon expires. Just bring in or mail the coupon to us now, or phone if you prefer.

SPECIAL 25 CENT OFFER COUPON

R. S. McCulloch & Co.,
Salem, Ohio

To take advantage of the special 25c offer, mail this coupon to us, or phone 106. We will send a man to collect your old shades, and to measure for your new ones. Good only until Nov. 1st.

KANAWHA RIVER
AT HIGH STAGE

Five Inches of Rain
Sends Water From Usual Banks

Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 3.—A near flood stage is evident in the Kanawha river, lowlands here today as the residents are moving to higher ground, upon receipt of information that a 30 foot stage, will be reached at Charleston during the day.

Only the recent dry weather which has kept the tributaries of the Kanawha river under control, averted serious trouble.

Five inches of rain fell in the New and Gauley bridge watershed in a 24 hour period yesterday.

Extra precaution is being taken to prevent a re-occurrence of the accidents which were occasioned by high water four years ago.

Policeman Knifed
By Crazy Veteran

Toledo, O., Oct. 3.—A crazed man was being held in a padded cell in the city prison here today while a Toledo police officer was recovering from the effects of a knife wound in his arm. It took 16 stitches to close the wound.

John Harnacinski, 40, a former inmate of the Dayton Soldiers Home, barricaded himself in his home here last night and refused to allow his three brothers to enter. They called police.

Patrolman John Derner responded and broke down the front door of the home. As he entered the house, Harnacinski, who was armed with a butcher knife, rushed the officer. Before Derner could subdue him, he had been cut badly on the arm.

Harnacinski is believed to have gone suddenly insane.

Discouraged Over Her Poor Health:
Then New Medicine Scored A Glorious Victory.

MRS. R. E. HALL

"Konjola was the only medicine that helped me," said Mrs. R. E. Hall, Pleasant Hill, Ohio. "Indigestion had been the bane of my life for a long while. I was forced to live on a liquid diet. Naturally I lost strength, energy and weight. Finally neuritis developed and made my muscles and joints so sore and stiff that life was hardly worth while."

"Although I had but little faith in Konjola I decided to give it a trial. Imagine my delight when I began to feel better immediately. Gradually the neuritis pains eased up. Then, like magic, they completely disappeared. My stomach was clapped and invigorated and now I can eat anything I desire. Life is worth living again and I owe all this new and glorious health to Konjola—the peer of medicines." Konjola is sold in Salem at J. H. Lease and Mr. Kaminsky drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

GOTHAM STAR

ALICE WHITE IS THE STAR IN
"BROADWAY BABIES" AT THE STATE

Complete changes in programs are effected at both the Royal and state theaters tonight. The Royal features Eddie Leonard, famous black-face stage player in "Melody Lane," while Alice White is in "Broadway Babies" at the State.

A snappy and colorful story of theatrical life on Gay Broadway is on view at the State. It is "Broadway Babies," starring Alice White. Miss White, one of the youngest stars on the screen today, has in this story of backstage life a vehicle ideally fitted for her talents. She is seen as the idol of a musical show on the Main Stem, and while her stage manager wants to marry her, she falls in love with a Canadian "importer" who proves to be a big shot and shell man from Gangster-ville.

A gay background of theatrical boarding houses, musical reviews, night clubs and other haunts of the stage, people is provided, and the story, which is fast moving and interesting throughout, is enacted by a company of skilled actors and actresses of the silver sheet.

Charles Delaney plays opposite the star, as he did in "Show Girl." Fred Kohler is the big shot and shell man, and Sally Eilers, Marion Byron, Tom Dugan, Bodil Rosing, Louis Natheaux, Jocelyn Lee and others are in various roles.

Scenes in a poor theatrical boarding house where Alice and her two choline pals who form the "Broadway Babies" live, are done with a deep feeling and understanding of the characters.

Then there are scenes in a gang war, and complications, and excitement and all sorts of things that we know take place on Broadway, but which we only read about and never see. In fact every phase of Broadway from morning to midnight has been incorporated into the action smoothly and faultlessly.

"MELODY LANE"

Eddie Leonard, minstrel man supreme, whose "Ida Sweet as Apple Cider" is one of the few ever-popular songs, stage favorite for years as the successor of Primrose and Dockadee, will be seen and heard as the star of "Melody Lane," all dialogue and music picture, which opens tonight at the Royal Theatre. "Melody Lane," a story of backstage vaudeville life, was written by Jo Swerling whose play "Kibitzer" was a recent sensational success in New York, and marks Leonard's bow as a motion picture star after an unrivaled stage career as a minstrel.

Opposite Leonard appears the beautiful, blonde Josephine Dunn, who will be remembered for her performance with Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool." Miss Dunn has the role of Leonard's wife while the two are struggling along in three-day vaudeville.

Leonard's slide-trombone voice and sun-burst personality are given full range in this picture of life behind the footlights. Besides old favorites of his like "Here I am" and "Oh Didn't It Rain" Leonard sings three smashing new song hits, "Beautiful," "Sugar Cane Round My Door" and "The Bogie Man Am Here" which he wrote with the collaboration of Jack Stern especially for the picture. "Beautiful" is the haunting theme song, crooned by Leonard to Miss Dunn and their child in the picture, little Jeane LaVerne who was the child "Magnolia" of "Show Boat."

In "Melody Lane" the curtain is lifted on backstage vaudeville life in a manner to touch hearts and hold interest while the smudge of blackface is washed off and the mask of the footlights dropped.

In the cast with Leonard and Miss Dunn are George Stone and Rose Coe, only two years old.

Big Crowd Expected When Collinwood Meets Red And Black

Cleveland School Big Attraction In State Football Competition

Cleveland Collinwood, last year the possessor of one of the best football records in the state, comes to Salem High as one of the outstanding grid attractions of the Cuyahoga county district. A team that overcomes a pregame analysis with frequency. It meets the Red and Black at Reilly stadium, Saturday afternoon, in a battle that looms as one of the home team's most important of the season.

A new record in attendance at a Salem High football battle will probably be recorded in the annals of Red and Black gridiron history, for Collinwood, through its unexpected win over the strong Canton McKinley team last year, is one of the state's outstanding gate attractions. Though not as strong this year as in 1928, Coach Paul Yost has an edition of gridders that have great potential strength.

Present facts of the game indicate that everyone of the 3,000 seats available in the concrete bleachers of the athletic field will be seeing a grid fanatic, Saturday. Salem's achievement in winning its first two games has aroused interest in grid activities to a feverish degree, and fans will turn out in throngs to watch the Stonemen attempt their third straight win.

Collinwood Weakened. Yost will bring his Collinwood team to Salem minus his star end, Edward Askey and his regular full-back, Miller, both having been injured and are out of action indefinitely. Askey broke a blood vessel in his right leg while Miller sustained a broken collar bone when Collinwood was defeated, 27-0 by Cleveland Central last Saturday. This will weaken the visiting aggregation to a certain extent, but the Yost squad has several lads in the reserve lineup that are being groomed as successors to the casualties.

Collinwood's unexpected win over McKinley last season makes it hard for any grid fan to put Salem as the favorite over the Clevelanders. Canton expected an easy win over Collinwood, having tied Steubenville in a previous struggle, then took a bad beating from the Yost-men. Stone is guarding carefully against such a mental attitude among his own squad, drilling them for a real tussle and constantly points out the harms of over-confidence.

To a certain extent an over-confident attitude, which has developed somewhat into that fatal cockiness is noticeable among the Red and Black crew at late practices. Collinwood's two defeats, the one 27-0 and the other 6-0, are taken as ready indications by a few, that it will be easy to victimize the visitors.

Light Practices This Week. Several members of Stone's var-

Welters Meet In Main Go; Jack Townsend Opposes Chicago Battler

Canton, Oct. 3.—Dick Ramies, sensational welterweight from Santiago, will battle Young Harry Greb, coming from Pittsburgh, in the ten-round final of the fight show arranged by H. C. Plattenberg, at Canton Monday night.

Thirty-six rounds of boxing have been arranged for the entire card, two heavyweights weighing more than 200 pounds being billed for a special bout at eight rounds. This special affair will bring together Jack Townsend, New York and Tom Williams of Chicago.

Both are strapping, big colored lads. Townsend holds a one-round technical knockout victory and one decision over George Godfrey, the Beiperville, Pa., assassin, and this bout will be to determine which of the two will meet Godfrey in a future bout at Canton.

Three six round prelims are also scheduled. The show is scheduled for the public auditorium and will start at 8:15.

Waners Say Baseball Not So Bad After Watching Gridders

Columbus, Oct. 3.—Paul and Lloyd Waner watched Ohio State's gridiron squad work out yesterday, and today, according to themselves, they are glad that they chose baseball as their sport.

The Waners, in case the fan doesn't know, are members of the Pittsburgh Pirates and one of the most famous pair of brothers in baseball.

"Gee, kid! They hit 'em awful hard in this football league, don't they?" asked Paul as he watched the varsity eleven stamp through the second stringers.

"Yea," replied Lloyd and then he lapsed into silence, but by the shake of his head and the shrug of his shoulders, one could easily see that the younger brother felt sorry for the knights of the gridiron.

"And," piped up Pie Traynor, the Pittsburgh third baseman, "they don't get a red cent for it, either." He appeared depressed at the thought and then he remarked, "Our life isn't so tough after all."

Jewel Ens, the Buccaneer's new manager, and Earl Sheely, first baseman, who with the other three players were guests of Coach Harold Olsen, agreed with Traynor.

Ty Cobb Picks Athletics To Win Because Of Connie Mack

Four Big Reasons Cited by Walsh, Former Detroit Star, Why Cubs Will Finish Second Best; Says Mr. McGillicuddy Greatest Manager In Game

By DAVIS J. WALSH
New York, Oct. 3.—The Philadelphia Athletics will win the world series, said Ty Cobb today, which was quite as expected, and thereupon offered an explanation which was an unexpected as the bite of a very vicious canary. The Athletics will win, according to Ty Cobb, because of one man and, in order to baffle the constituency, I think I ought to mention the fact that the individual in question will not get a base hit, throw a ball, make a putout or receive credit for an assist. The man's name is Connie Mack.

Connie, according to his late employer, will be one of the greatest single factors in the series with his judgment, generalship, split-second thinking and the insurance he gives his men. And by way of emphasis and for good measure, Ty Cobb, who will "cover" the series for a syndicate, thinks Philadelphia has a few more aces buried in the deck, of which the following are a sample:

1.—That Grove, far from being a slump against right hand hitting, has less trouble with the right handers than he does with left hand hitters. 2. That the club has too much

Mack can. He is uncanny in his field direction; he moves his outfielders almost to the square inch for a hitter you would expect to hit in another direction entirely. You see, he figures his pitchers and what the count is on the batter and then he will tell you, within a few feet, where the ball will be hit. This often is dead against where the man usually hits but Mr. Mack is almost never wrong. He is almost occult about it.

"I never saw a man who can get more out of his pitchers, jockey them to better effect or nurse them through the pines with more success."

"Because of these things, I consider him the finest field strategist we have. And as a handler of men, he can't be beaten. They are crazy about him; and why not? An absolute monarch as far as his control of the club is concerned, he never is anything but kindly and encouraging to his players. That club has as fine a morale as any I've known and, with its natural power, smoothness and skill, I would be forced to pick it, even if I had never been an American Leaguer."

This and much more of a similar strain rolled off the Cobb palate and into mine heeding ear. Boiled down, the rest of it follows:

If Grove gets away to a good start, the Cubs will never stop him. It will take a good change of pace pitcher to bother the Athletics—that Walbert and Grove have nothing in common excepting left hands, Walberg being a curve-baller with a "skidding" fast ball—that Grove ought to fool a "swing" hitter like Wilson—that he assumes that the

Weather Argues In Favor Of Shorter Ball Season

BY HENRY McEMORE
New York, Oct. 3.—Mother Nature, kindly old dame that she is, has been doing her best lately to help the baseball moguls make up their minds concerning the shortening of the baseball season.

The powers that be have been talking quite a bit of late about clearing up the schedule before or by October first and the weather that we've been having should go a long way in showing them the wisdom in such a course. In the Cubs, as a machine, have yet to reach their best, whereas the Athletics are at the pinnacle—that Grove's pitching difficulties of the past month mean very little—that, if he starts and wins the first game, he is liable to pitch the third, which will be in Philadelphia at least three days later—that Carlson may give the Athletics more trouble than any other Cub pitcher—that Cochrane and Dykes are among the great morale builders in the game—that he himself is not out of baseball permanently but never again will be a player—that he has turned down one major league managerial offer but might give the thing a whirl, under encouraging auspices.

A chemical process developed in Norway is claimed to have kept fish fresh for a month at small cost.

Women Are Free! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Legally, politically and socially woman has been emancipated from those chains which bound her. AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has exploded the ridiculous theory that forced the stigma of inferiority upon a sex.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful, corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

In New England clam chowder is an opaque milky dish, and that's the only true clam chowder. In New York clam chowder is a clear, slightly tomato-colored affair—and that too is the only true clam chowder. It all depends on where you come from whether the dish set before you is the only genuine.

Both are excellent—it's a matter of taste which one prefers. But there is one test of good clam chowder that very few restaurants meet satisfactorily—it should contain plenty of clams. Which is one reason why it pays to make the dish at home, although it takes time and trouble and is only one course of a meal. To get the real clam flavor (which is the only reason for preparing this dish) allow half a dozen clams per person. This isn't any too much as they shrink in cooking. However, it's sufficient to make each service reveal actual clams to the naked eye—and ward off any ancient wheezes about discovering a clam unexpectedly.

Either hard or soft clams can be used, and the best chowder is made of both. The hard clams can be cooked a long time—in fact a simmering of an hour will yield a most delicious flavor. One gets the best of hard shell clams by this method.

Also—and most important—clams should be absolutely fresh. They should be scrubbed in plenty of cold water and rinsed many times to make sure that every bit of sand is removed from the shells. Put clams in a large saucepan and cover with water, then bring to a boil. Turn down the flame and simmer for one hour. Remove the clams and strain all the juice carefully through cheesecloth. Mince the clams.

Clam Chowder With Milk
1 pint hard clams, minced; 1 pint soft clams, minced; 1/4 pound salt pork; 2 cups diced potatoes; 1 onion, minced; 1 quart milk, heated; 1 quart clam juice; 1/2 cup flour; 1 tablespoon butter; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

While the potatoes boil in a little salted water, brown the minced onions and salt pork in a large saucepan. When the onions are light brown add the flour, stirring constantly, then the hot milk. When smoothly blended add the potatoes, the minced clams, clam juice and the minced clams. Let heat together, and just before serving add salt, pepper and the butter.

Clam Chowder With Vegetables
1 pint hard clams, minced; 1 pint soft clams, minced; 1 quart clam juice; 4 potatoes; 4 tomatoes; 1 large onion; 3 small carrots; 1 small turnip; 1 cup sliced celery; 1/2 pound salt pork; 1 tablespoon butter; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon pepper; 1 quart hot water.

Place the salt pork in a large saucepan, add the minced onion and when light brown pour on the quart of hot water. Add the other vegetables cut in dice, and cook over a low flame for one hour, or longer if the vegetables are not tender by that time. Then add minced clams and clam juice, also seasoning, and continue cooking for 15 minutes longer. Add the butter just before serving.

Large pilot crackers are a good accompaniment with chowder.

When Babies CRY

Babies will cry, often for no apparent reason. You may not know what's wrong, but you can always give Castoria. This soon has your little one comforted; if not, you should call a doctor. Don't experiment with medicines intended for the stronger systems of adults! Most of those little upsets are soon soothed away by a little of this pleasant-tasting, gentle-acting children's remedy that children like.

It may be the stomach, or may be the little bowels. Or in the case of older children, a sluggish, constipated condition. Castoria is still the thing to give. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment, and could be no possibility do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it's the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue; won't play, can't sleep, is fretful or out of sorts. Get the genuine; it always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

Today buttons seem to be slipping into the decoration class. So many women's garments are being made to slip over the head, thus requiring no extra fastening whatever. But, also, the button is a sort of symbol. "Sewing on buttons"—it was a figure of speech denoting the harassed wife and mother, forever having to make needed repairs on everybody's clothing. At the end of a busy day, in the late watches of the night, always there was the everflowing sewing basket, reproachfully reminding her of urgent garments that were useless in their present buttonless state.

Along with other household jobs displaced by new inventions, the button, too, is departing. Buttons have to be handsome enough to win a place as decoration. For pure utility purposes there are many varieties of the slide fasteners. One set is fastened on a garment and there it remains. And the whole thing is so sturdy that it is usually outlives the article to which it is attached. Of course, it is by no means ornamental. It's just useful, and so it is sewed on with some attempt at concealment.

Beginning as a fastening for water proof overcoats, the slide fastener is now made in so many grades that it can be used for almost everything formerly fastened with buttons, clasps or strings. Bags and furniture covers, mattress covers are a few of the household uses. Children's rompers, dresses, play suits, leggings, sleeping suits are equipped once and forever with the first set of fasteners sewed on.

Brassieres that tend to accentuate the figure rather than eliminate the natural contour come in artificial silk or crepe de Chine with embroidered lace or net insets. The backless style with cross-over elastic straps fastening at the sides is the most popular.

Relief from Curse of Constipation

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the large, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. J. H. Lease Drug Co., Floding Drug Store and Bolger & French.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, Oct. 3. — Hats will be as temperamental as the women that are under them this winter, according to all early predictions. Variety will be the spice of all head covering and every shape under the sun will appear on the horizon.
 For the chic modistes have decided that one or two forms cannot suit all women. They must select

Popularity... begins with a Clear Skin

IT'S the person with a clear, smooth, lovely complexion that usually wins.

To be sure, not much is said openly about skin eruptions, but secretly they influence many important affairs. Personal likes and dislikes are quickly formed.

Everybody wants to be attractive. It is a just and natural ambition. A clear skin makes everyone more attractive.

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils, eczema and other skin eruptions as being an indication that the body's power of resistance is low—that there is a deficiency of red-blood-cells.

The sure way to remedy this condition is to restore the red-blood-cells to normal.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of those unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

S.S.S. helps Nature restore the blood to its normal state. Healthy blood makes the body strong and resistant to disease.

Without plenty of rich, red blood there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or healthy, beautiful women.

If you are troubled with so-called skin disorders or if the count of your red-blood-cells is low, take a few bottles of S.S.S. Seek energy, vitality and a clear skin through the remedy, which is made from fresh vegetable drugs, and has stood the test of over 100 years.

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

A MAZDA LAMP for Effortless Vision

After the Incandescent Lamp was first made practical by Thomas Edison in 1879, it required over forty years to produce the mazda bulb shown here. Lighting experts at last are satisfied that it represents all that might be desired in an artificial light. Through its frosted surface comes a soft diffused light so easy on the eyesight that one is scarcely aware of its presence. For reading, a 60-watt bulb is preferable; for other fixtures, the wattage varies with the position and purpose of the bulb.

Stop in at our store when ordering new lamps and we'll advise you on the wattage best adapted to each fixture. This will mean a more economical and effective distribution of light in your home.
